

RAILROAD HEADS POSTPONE ACTION

Objections to Points in Tentative Plan Delay Decision

TO MEET AGAIN TODAY

Main Difficulty Has Been Working Out of Operating Plans
Under 8-Hour Day

HOPE HIGH AMONG EMPLOYEES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Objections to points to the tentative plan evolved by the committee of eight railroad presidents considering ways to avoid the threatened general strike, resulted in a further postponement of final action. The conference adjourned to meet again tomorrow. A statement issued by the railroad executives tonight summed up this way:

At the invitation of President Wilson, Messrs. Hale Holden, Judge R. S. Lovett and Daniel Willard went to the White House at noon and held a short conference with the president.

A conference of the railroad executives was held at 3 o'clock and a new phase of the situation of some importance laid before the conference by the special committee.

After considerable discussion without definite action an adjournment was taken until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. In the meantime the special committee of the president's will continue its labor.

The special committee would provide for granting an eight hour "basic" day to the trainmen, but with assurance that every effort would be made by the administration to secure a freight rate increase to recompense the roads and further assurance that congress would be asked to enact legislation to insure settlement of future labor disputes thru an investigating commission. It developed that objection had been raised to the freight rate increase feature. It was argued that there can be no assurance of a rate increase because no one could say what the interstate commerce commission might do and that some of the most important shippers of the country are not in sympathy with any move which may mean a rate increase. It was pointed out that also President Wilson has expressed his belief that such a rate increase should be granted if the eight hour day is given the employees, no one can tell how the next election is coming out.

Attention was called, too, to the fact that the commission hitherto has held that it cannot wage standards in dealing with proposed rate increases, altho legislation by congress might remove that difficulty. The principal arguments against the idea of a permanent commission for the prevention or settlement of strikes were that it would almost certainly be fought by labor in congress and that while President Wilson might be entirely willing now to back such legislation he might not be in a position to do so when it was proposed. Representatives of the Brotherhoods who heard of this phase of the plan today were plainly against it. A counter suggestion was heard among the presidents that strike questions should be left to the interstate commerce commission with power to investigate and make a public report of their findings with a strike held in abeyance pending the investigation.

The special committee's plan was communicated to the labor representatives thru Judge William L. Chambers of the board of mediation and conciliation.

The main difficulty has been the working out of operating plans under an eight hour day. Presidents and managers agree that the operating problem presented is one of the most complicated they have ever undertaken. Roads which now are operating on a narrow margin of profit or on which the physical difficulties are unusual present serious problems. The effort has been to include in the eight hour day concessions solution of some of the other questions which might make it less expensive to the railroads. There were reports tonight that some of the executives still are unalterably opposed to granting the eight hour day under any circumstances and might attempt tomorrow to force a decision which would bring the negotiations to an end.

In their conferences with President Wilson the executives pointed out that since it was his view that the eight hour day is approved by society, it eventually must be extended to other railroad employees and to those in other lines of endeavor. An estimate of the ultimate cost was given the president.

President Wilson is said to have taken the position that the freight rate increase will be forthcoming be-

ILLINOIS MANUFACTURERS CALL CONFERENCE TO MEET AUG. 29

Want to Uphold Principle of Arbitration—Chicago Association of Commerce Sends Message to Wilson.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The Illinois Manufacturers' association today called a conference of similar organizations from many states to meet in Chicago, Aug. 29th, to uphold the principle of arbitration and to secure united action on the part of industries with reference to the controversy between railroads and their trainmen.

Telegrams stating the purpose of the conference were sent to the Iowa, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts state manufacturers' organizations, the Minneapolis Employers' association and a number of large individual manufacturers throughout the middle west.

The telegram states "the manufacturers and public will be seriously injured if the principle of arbitration is not maintained."

The Chicago Association of Commerce sent a lengthy telegram to President Wilson tonight urging that the association be permitted to present its view to him before Wilson acts further in the pending railroad controversy.

"We cannot accept the proposition that in order to avert a strike, many millions of dollars in increased wages must be paid without arbitration and without public consideration of the necessities of conditions of the men or the carriers," the telegram said. "Vastly more is involved in the present issue than the wages of these relatively few trainmen and the consequences of a strike if it cannot be justly averted."

OFFICIALS BELIEVE FLEETS MAY HAVE COME IN CONTACT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Navy officials believed it possible tonight that the "red" and "blue" fleets had come into contact somewhere off the Atlantic Coast and were enacting the closing scenes of the war game which began two days ago. A strict censorship is imposed, however, by Rear-Admiral Benson, acting secretary and chief of operations on all reports reaching the department.

A message from Rear-Admiral Helm, commanding the "blue" defending fleet indicated that his scouts might have located either the "red" fleet or its phantom train of transports hypothetically loaded with the men and supplies of an invading army. Admiral Mayo is seeking to land on the Atlantic Coast.

The outcome will be determined by Rear-Admiral Knight, head of the navy war college, who as umpire, is on the scene of action aboard the superdreadnaught, Pennsylvania. Admiral Knight receives regular reports from the commanders of the two fleets as to their dispositions. The moves of the game are being plotted by his navigators on a huge chart aboard the Pennsylvania.

Carmel, Ill., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Betsey Storey, aged 103, died today at her farm home near Carmel. She contended her long life was due to her simplicity in diet and dress. She never rode a train and did not endorse woman suffrage.

cause public opinion will back the eight hour day and any plan to give the railroads the revenue to provide for the added expense.

Statements were issued tonight by President Pennington of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie, and P. R. Albright, general manager of the Atlantic Coast Line, emphasizing the railroad view of the additional cost to them of an eight hour day.

Mr. Pennington said for the railroads to accept something which would cause them to spend $5,000,000 more annually would seriously affect their credit.

Hope was high among brotherhood men tonight that a satisfactory settlement would be reached tomorrow. Assurances from their leaders that the outlook was favorable cheered them. The leaders said they believed negotiations soon would end satisfactorily.

Fear of embarrassing the president as well as injuring their own cause today quieted the "insurgent" brotherhood element which yesterday threatened to disrupt the calm daily meetings of the employees with their demands for action. The leaders pointed out to the insurgents that thus far in the negotiations the weight of the president's support has been with them and that to make any move which would embarrass him would be extremely unwise. There were no capital conferences regarding the threatened strike today, the members of both houses awaiting the result of the negotiations by the president.

OWEN SPEAKS FOR HIS CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT

ACCUSES REPUBLICANS WITH TRY-ING TO PREVENT ACTION

Oklahoma Senator Announces He Will Make an Insistent Fight to Bring up Measure at This Session of Congress

Washington, Aug. 24.—Republican senators were accused today by Senator Owen, Democrat, of a deliberate effort to prevent action before the November election on his corrupt practices bill, which would put strict limitations on campaign contributions. Then the Oklahoma senator announced that he would make an insistent fight to bring up the measure at this session of congress regardless of consequences to early adjournment plans. He declared the existing campaign contributions law was a fraud upon the American people, charged that the so-called lumber trust had sent $40,000 into Oklahoma to defeat his renomination because he voted to deny William Lorimer a seat in the senate and precipitated a lively debate in which Republican and Democratic senators bitterly accused each other of planning to buy the approaching election.

Senator Owen announced he would make a motion to take up his bill as soon as the revenue bill was passed. Last week Democratic leaders thought they had enough votes to defeat such a motion, pledged from senators who desire an adjournment. Whether Senator Owen's sensational presentation of his plea for action has changed that situation is problematical. Should his motion prevail, Republican leaders say a prolonged fight will be made on the measure. When the Oklahoma senator declared the so-called lumber trust had used a $40,000 fund against him, Senator Penrose Republican, interjected:

"It is reported that it cost the Democratic party $1,000,000 to elect Woodrow Wilson."

"How about the $2,500,000 spent to elect William McKinley in 1896?" queried Senator O'Gorman, Democrat.

"That might have been so," Senator Penrose replied.

Resuming his speech, Senator Owen said he had figures showing that Myron T. Herrick, recently nominated for senator by the Republicans in Ohio had personally expended $22,175 in his primary campaign and that the Herrick Voters League had spent $29,000.

"It is not difficult to understand why the Republicans of the senate do not want this bill to pass now," said Senator Stone interrupting his Democratic colleague. "The reason is that they expect to buy the approaching national election."

"I have heard it stated that the Democrats are trying to buy it and that they have already raised a large fund," Senator Gallinger, the Republican leader said.

"I have heard," said Senator Penrose, "that the Democrats already have an enormous corruption fund, and that now they want to lock the door."

"The people of the United States are not going to stand any more the buying of elections," Senator Owen continued. "The people are demanding this law because the existing statute does not protect them. Reports of campaign contributions and expenditures sent to the secretary of the senate are ridiculous. They do not include money expended for elections. I know that to be an absolute fact."

"Republicans in the senate under the cover of debate may carry on a filibuster under this bill until after the election but they cannot fool the American people as to their motives."

Senator Penrose said the Republicans would be willing to stay here until the bill was perfected, if necessary, but that would take a long time and it would be better to wait until December.

Any legislative tangle developed today over the revenue bill and the general deficiency appropriation bill which has not yet been reported to the house, Republican senate leaders notified the Democrats that they would not permit the revenue bill to reach a vote until the deficiency appropriation had been disposed of by both houses. Democratic leaders said tonight they were hopeful that they could get the bill before the senate Monday or Tuesday.

PENROSE AND SHERMAN CONSUME MOST OF TIME IN DEBATE ON BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Senators Penrose and Sherman, Republicans, consumed most of the time in today's debate on the revenue bill. The Pennsylvania senator concluded a speech against the measure begun yesterday, attacking particularly the proposed munitions and inheritance taxes. He also criticized the tariff commission to be created by the bill. Senator Sherman attacked the proposed income tax increases as unfair and inequitable and assailed the Democratic tariff.

"This present tariff law is a mongrel," he said. "It is a mixture, born of the tariff for revenue and the competitive tariff, and, like a mule, has all the unholy aspects of both ancestors and the virtues of none."

HUGHES SPEAKS IN MORMON TABERNACLE

DECLARES FOR FAITHFUL OBSERVANCE OF CIVIL SERVICE

G. O. P. Nominee Assails Administration for "Specious Disregard" of Civil Service Regulations in Making Appointments.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 24.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking before an audience that crowded every available foot of space in the great Mormon tabernacle here tonight, assailed the administration for "specious disregard" of the civil service regulations in making appointments, declared that he stood for faithful observance of the civil service and asserted that he would extend its sphere, if elected. Mr. Hughes spoke with the Democratic candidate for governor on the platform and with other Democratic candidates and party officials, specially invited guests in the hall.

"We have had under this administration," the nominee said, "law after law enacted providing for the creation of thousands of places not made under civil service regulations. 'Spurious' excuses were made. They deceived no one. Every one of those clauses designed to make inapplicable the merit system was simply designed to afford an opportunity to provide political spoils."

"We must guard against that. I should not expect you would think what I say worthy of special attention were it not that I have devoted four of the best years of my life, regardless of politics to maintaining those ideals in the Empire state."

The nominee referred to the administration's policy toward the Philippines.

"We have talked too much about our privileges," he said. "It is now time to talk about our obligations. If our friends on the other side had had a proper sense of the obligations of this government they never would have proposed that we scuttle out of the Philippines and leave them to take care of themselves."

"I propose that we shall have in the administration of the Philippine, the highest standard of efficiency and fair dealing."

The nominee repeated his condemnation of "pork barrel" legislation. "The other day I pointed the finger of scorn at the pork barrel bills passed under this administration," he said, "and immediately there was a flutter of the hit birds in the hall of congress."

Mr. Hughes left at midnight for Cheyenne, Wyo., where he will speak tomorrow night.

JAPANESE PHYSICIAN CLAIMS TO HAVE POISONED VILLA

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., Aug. 24.—A Japanese physician named Nodko claims to have brought about the death of Villa by slow poison given under the guise of medical treatment, according to the Chihuahua local papers today. After Villa's death Dr. Nodko is quoted as saying that the remaining Villa leaders gambled with dice to decide who should impersonate the dead chief, and the lot fell to Col. Baca, who bears a strong personal resemblance to Villa. To prevent deception from being disclosed, Col. Baca is said to be surrounded by his personal body guard, who keep the common soldiers and ranchers from coming too near. Dr. Nodko, according to the papers, had been administering poison for three months with the result that Villa died shortly after his defeat at Parral. A colonel, five majors, three captains and nine privates belonging to a small remaining band of rebels, are reported by General Hilario Rodriguez to have surrendered to him in Durango and northern Zacatecas.

Allies Chronicle Substantial Gains on the Somme Front

BRITISH CLAIM ADVANCE

Despatches Indicate That French Are Preparing to Extend Their Offensive

AIRSHIPS BOMBARD ENGLAND

Striking simultaneously, British and French have made substantial gains on the Somme front according to Paris and London. Maurepas has fallen to the French who have pushed forward more than two hundred yards beyond the town on a front of a mile and a quarter. British report a three hundred yard advance south of Thiepval and the capture of many prisoners.

The allied front now resembles the teeth of a great saw between which Germans are tenaciously holding the ruins of several villages.

Despatches indicate that the French are preparing to extend their offensive for thirty miles south of the present battle line. They are reported to have opened a tremendous cannonading from Entrees to Les Genny.

No change is reported from the east, but the Russian offensives in Armenia apparently is assuming powerful proportions. Petrograd reports the re-occupation of Mush and the capture of 2,300 prisoners at Rachia.

The situation on the Saloniki front remains obscure but apparently there has been no important change since the allied flanks were forced back by the Bulgarians at the opening of the offensive. Main interest is centered now on Greece. Athens despatches report Greek volunteers rushing to Seres to take up arms against Bulgarians. Reports to the Greek capital state that fighting has been going on at Seres for days.

The Italians who are pushing their offensive on the extreme north of the Austro-Italian line claim the capture of several Austrian positions.

A GENEROUS DEED

The following, taken from a city paper refers to the gift Prest Burns mentioned in his lecture at the chautauqua:

"Capt. R. A. Torrey, millionaire ranchman, of Fruitville, Mo., has saved Oneida Institute, a Baptist college in the heart of the Kentucky mountains, from actual need this year. A draft was received today from Capt. Torrey's brother, Col. Jay L. Torrey, in New York, for $10,000, payable to Oneida without strings to it, and even with a 2-cent stamp for the return of the receipt, so that the institute would not be at any expense.

"Oneida Institute has been made nationally famous by its president, J. A. Burns, a former feudist. Some of his teachers work for $50 a year. Ten dollars a year will almost carry a pupil thru a term of school."

The correspondent wasn't quite right in his figures regarding the pay of teachers and the cost of maintaining a pupil, but the article is interesting reading and shows there is some good among wealthy men.

The Democratic publicity bureau says the tariff is not being talked this year. The wish is father to the thought. As a matter of fact half the Democratic rank and file is in favor of a protective tariff. All Republicans are in favor of it. Thousands of Democrats, who are not talking much of their intentions will vote the Republican ticket, because they believe in "America First," rather than the free trade policy which places the foreign producer first. If there is little talk of the tariff it is because people have made up their minds that a protective tariff is absolutely essential to the "Made-in-America" movement.

Governor Dunne wisely purposes to find out the attitude of legislators on the plan of giving soldiers a right to vote before he issues a call. The governor has sent letters of inquiry to all members of the house and senate asking their attitude on this question. The governor has learned by experience that it is not wise to anticipate action by the legislature until he has accurate first hand information. If the legislators provide means whereby the soldiers can cast their votes in the primary and the election they will be giving the soldiers only their deserts.

Riding along Morgan county roads it is gratifying to note that much of the corn which for a time was so flat because of the high wind has straightened up enough to lift the ears from the ground. There are a few spots where the ears are touching on the ground and they will probably rot. Nevertheless indications are that the total Morgan county crop will be above the average, and will command a splendid price. There is fortunately the usual rule in this county—better final results than weather conditions indicate from time to time.

Efficiency Will Be Demanded

When a political leader approached Andrew Russel, candidate for Republican nomination for state auditor recently and proffered his support he followed it with the suggestion that the organization he represented might want recognition in the matter of appointments. Promptly came the answer from Mr. Russel, "Your support will certainly be appreciated and if your organization will suggest the names of men for appointment who are thoroughly competent and experienced in the line of work that they would be expected to do, they will certainly have consideration. Otherwise, no. In my campaign I am making it very clear that if nominated and elected that my assistants in the office will

Throughout the west the long July like some champagne, was extra dry; the skies were blue, day after day, the sun pursued its redhot way; when breezes swept the countryside, they felt as though they had been fried. The goose-bone prophets had their fling and prophesied like everything, "I heard a rain crow all day long, and that's a sign that ne'er goes wrong," one prophet said, to weeping jays, "we will have rain within two days."

"This morn eastern sky was red," another bum clairvoyant said; "that is a sign that rain will come, and save our crops of chewing gum." "There is a ring around the moon," remarked another wise goosoon, "and when the moon is wearing rings, there's bound to be a rain, by jings." "The pigs," observed a graybeard seer, "are showing sign of mortal fear; they rush, excited, round the pen, and squeal and gallop back again; and when the pigs thus act insane, you bet your boots there'll be a rain." Mr. and Mrs. William B. Seymour of Girard will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday Aug. 26. Mr. and Mrs. Seymour were in Franklin Thursday to attend the funeral of Mr. Seymour's brother, John P. Seymour. Mr. Seymour is one of the oldest men born in this county. He is in his eighty-first year and his wife is 79. They were married at the old Bull homestead in Hart's Prairie, Aug. 27, 1857. The late Squire Isaac Hill was the minister who performed the ceremony.

be selected first of all upon the basis of competence and efficiency. In the banking department, for example, it is not possible to give to the people of the state the service to which they are entitled unless men of practical and successful experience are chosen."

The various statements made by Candidate Lowden opposing so many commissions in Illinois have struck a responsive chord. Colonel Lowden has come out openly in advocacy of elimination or consolidation of many of the state boards and commissions. Those who have studied the question have the feeling that the increase in the number of commissions has had much to do with the great growth of state expenditures in the past ten years. The people do not seem to have fully grasped that Illinois biennial expenses have changed in ten years from sixteen millions to forty six millions. Certainly it is time to call a halt in such extravagance, to find the cause and then apply the remedy.

Then and Now.

Rarely has a campaign seen a more pathetic spectacle than the New York World, which is laboring to support Wilson. On May 3, 1910, The World, discussing Mr. Hughes' "trust record," said, "Gov. Hughes drafted the law forbidding corporations to contribute to campaign funds. For his distinguished and conspicuous service and success in securing better control of 'great trust conspiracies' Gov. Hughes need not fear comparison with any man of his time, however exalted in place or however heavily armed with political power." And on May 17, 1910, The World said of Gov. Hughes, "He dictated no nominations, controlled no convention, trafficked in no patronage; made no bargains with office-holders or office-seekers. He has rewarded nobody for supporting him and punished nobody for opposing him. What influence he has wielded over public opinion has come through his appeals to the voters themselves."

Now, The World, in its desperate determination to be loyal to Wilson is trying to depict Hughes as the servant of the trusts and is insisting he would be a trafficker in public offices like unto Woodrow Wilson; but the awful faces it is making as it does it are abundant proof of how distasteful is the task and of how it sadly regrets having told the truth when there was no presidential campaign on.

MRS. BOOTH REVIEWS WORK IN PRISONS

ADDRESS AT THE CHAUTAUQUA THRILLED GREAT AUDIENCE

Speaker One of Country's Most Famous Women—Hrubby Orchestra Heard in Two Fine Programs—Notes from the Chautauqua Grounds.

FRIDAY, AUG. 25

10: Morning Lecture—Dr. Lina K. Sadler.

Afternoon 2:00 Concert—Hrubby Orchestra.

2:45 Lecture—Dr. Wm. Sadler.

Evening 7:30 Concert—Hrubby Orchestra.

8:00 Reading—Sarah Mildred Wilmer.

Moving Pictures—T. S. Scott.

There will be three sessions at the chautauqua today and all full of good things. When the Sadlers were here last year there was a general demand for their return and the management did wisely in securing them. They are instructive and at the same time pleasing and entertaining. They tell you how to keep well and how to have a good time and enjoy life and they tell it in a manner that cannot fail to please. Then the many lovers of music in the city and vicinity will have a rare treat in the Hrubby orchestra which will be on both afternoon and evening and charm every one with their fine efforts. This orchestra has a very pleasing repertoire and supplies a variety that will please the cultured musician as well as those who know less about the scale but delight in sweet sounds.

Sarah Mildred Wilmer is always a prime attraction and pleases her audience and wherever she appears her efforts are always a delight for she has a reason for all she says and she says it in a manner that never fails to give perfect satisfaction.

Taken as a whole the program for today is rich and varied and at the same time pleasing and instructive. Another rich program has been enjoyed at the chautauqua grounds and many said the day was well worth the dollar for the season ticket. The Hrubby family orchestra was a great success. The talented young musicians discoursed all sorts of music from grave to gay. Their Battle of San Juan Hill was a tremendous hit and electrified the whole audience.

Mrs. Booth, "The Little Prison Mother," was a prime favorite and fully measured up to the high standard fixed for her. Although she talked more than two hours she held the closest attention of her vast audience to the last and nearly every one would willingly have sat another hour.

The day opened clear and pleasant and while not as cool as one could wish still it was agreeable and very satisfactory. The morning was pleasantly spent by the campers in a social manner and already many have expressed regrets at the thought of leaving a place where they have had such a pleasant time. Everything possible has been done for their comfort and if there has been any dissatisfaction among them it has been kept very quiet.

The Hrubby Bohemian Orchestra. Promptly on time Mr. Dial called for attention and to the large audience introduced the Hrubby Bohemian orchestra and in turn each member was introduced to the people and then the music began. It was truly excellent and every one agreed that the quality and variety of their offerings fully equal the good things said for them. They are sprightly and gay; sober and serious, merry and jolly and in fact everything that such an organization should be and they supplied a very happy combination and an important and valuable number on the chautauqua program.

Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth. Then came the chief attraction of the day. While many had expected much no one even for a moment anticipated the rare treat that was offered and on every hand was heard the statement that the address was well worth the price of a season ticket.

Those who had expected to see a woman with lean, cadaverous features and whining voice with a silky sentimental plea for poor, downtrodden, innocent prisoners were most woefully disappointed for Mrs. Booth is a vigorous, strong, attractive woman with a message for every one. She didn't get up and bewail the lot of the innocent victim of the law but said plainly that in most cases the prisoners deserved to be sent to the lookup but the great work for Christianity was to imitate the Divine Master and visit them in prison and help them to a better life. She was heard well nigh two and a half hours and most of the vast audience would gladly have listened an hour longer.

Mr. Dial gave her a glowing and highly complimentary introduction and in replying she said it was rather hard to speak after such words of praise but she soon showed that all was well deserved.

Mrs. Booth said in part: "I am not here to talk of myself but to bring you a message from my boys within the prison walls. I come here from the national prison at Leavenworth, Kan., and from the Kansas state penitentiary and I have seen much of prison life in all its aspects. A better day for most prisons is here and today I seem to hear a message from my boys saying, 'Little Mother, go out and tell your story; we are worth saving' and my

Win Against the Hessian Fly

To Escape the Main Attack of the Fly—sow your wheat late. The early brood is most destructive to young wheat and provides for future broods. Your own experiment station will tell you this.

The Best Wheat Yields come from plants that enter the winter strong and vigorous. Your own experience will tell you this.

To Win Against the Fly—seed late, feed the crop with available fertilizers which will hasten growth to overcome the late start, and secure vigor with consequent resistance to later broods. Use 200 to 400 pounds per acre containing at least 2 per cent of ammonia. Acid phosphate alone does not give the necessary quick growth and resistance to the fly.

For detailed directions on combating the Hessian Fly, see Farmers Bulletin 640 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

mission is two fold; to take your message to the prison and to bring the prison message to you. They ask a helping hand that they may have a chance when they emerge from the prison walls into the world. If we have faith in Him who opened the eyes of the blind we may see great moral miracles wrought today in the reclamation and uplift of those whom society has condemned.

Our Duty To the Criminal.

"I am not a sentimentalist. I am not here to say that all prisoners are innocent. Many are there whom the home, the school, the church and society have failed to make honest, useful persons. Much of the wreckage of humanity is found there from all sources and it is our work to help them feel they may yet go out into the world and make a success. I have seen men hard and coarse become good and useful. It is enough to make angels weep tears of blood to hear the expression that a man is beyond all hope. I would that I could wholly stop the revolting publication of the details of crime for there is great danger that some weak mind may be led astray by it. A seemingly brutal man condemned to die for murder was told that he might have whatever he wished the last day of his life and imagine the astonishment of the prison keepers when he said he wished he could once more put his baby to sleep. The request was granted.

"In my experience of twenty years I have had large experience with crime. I am concerned with the hearts of these men; they are my friends and I am proud of it; we meet on the level and I get a good grip on the heart, opening the door with the key of love. It is possible

GREAT AUDIENCE HEARD
LOWDEN IN CHICAGORepublican Candidate for Governor
Ship Has High Ideals of Public Service.

Chicago, Aug. 24—Five thousand men and women, filling the Auditorium to capacity, heard and cheered Colonel Frank O. Lowden tonight when he opened his campaign in Cook county. The meeting was under the auspices of the Frank O. Lowden Business Men's association, a non-partisan organization of 2,600 members prominent in the city's business and professional circles.

President David R. Forgan presided. On the platform with him were Vice-Presidents John V. Farwell, George M. Reynolds, Frank W. Gunsaulus, Charles G. Dawes, Arthur Dixon, John F. Smulski, Edgar A. Bancroft, Wallace Heckman, Alexander H. Revell, Samuel M. Felton, Arthur D. Bevan and W. T. Fenton and Secretary Gordon A. Ramsay. There was music by the Chicago band.

Colonel Lowden was the principal speaker and he was vociferously cheered on his appearance and presentation to the audience. His address also elicited much applause as he scored his points on state and national issues, stated his reasons for refusing to wage a campaign of personalities and advocated conciliation in settlement of disputes between capital and labor. Especially were his hearers pleased when he declared himself the candidate of no faction—or would he be a factionist if elected governor—and pleaded for a united party that Illinois might be wrested from the Democrats and a Republican president and congress elected to insure the repeal of the Democratic Underwood tariff law.

No Criticism for Rivals

Explaining why he had so carefully refrained from personal attacks on his rivals and even from answering charges of every personal nature, Mr. Lowden said:

"So far as my own life is concerned, that has been an open book that all may read, to approve or disapprove according to their judgment. For every charge made against me, those seeking may find a full answer. I am neither going to answer such charges nor make charges against anyone else.

"There isn't any office on earth to attain which I would build myself up on the ruins of someone else. I remember when I was first a candidate for Congress and some of my friends wanted me to get out and abuse somebody, or criticize somebody or make a row and I said to them that I would not do it; that if that was the price of the office, I preferred the quiet and dignity of private life. I added that I would so conduct my campaign that at its close, whatever the result, I would be in good company even when alone.

United Party Needed

"In order to put thru those policies," Colonel Lowden continued, "I will need the support of a united party, and I want that support in order to make it worth while to give up the beautiful valley for Springfield for four long years.

"To go to Springfield as Governor simply to have the name of Governor does not appeal to me. By the insurance tables, I believe that I may expect something like eighteen years more of life. I do not want to take five out of those eighteen years and give them to 'marking time' which neither will benefit the state nor give me the satisfaction of accomplishing something worth while.

Harry Walker has received notice of his appointment as physical director of the Ottumwa, Iowa, Y. M. C. A. east end department. Mr. Walker expects to leave Jacksonville about the middle of September.

Ottumwa is a prosperous city of twenty-four thousand people, the industrial and agricultural center of southern Iowa. Mr. Walker has been a member of the Jacksonville association for nine years, six of which he has been a member of the leaders' corps. During the incumbency of B. A. Brewer as physical director at Waukegan, Mr. Walker had full charge of the department here. His ability as a gymnast is well known and those who attended the 1915 chautauqua will recall the excellent work on the parallel bars done by the team of which Mr. Walker was a member. Mr. Walker is a member of Central Christian work and has been prominent in Endeavor and Sunday school activities.

PERRYSBURG HAS CENTENNIAL

Toledo, O., Aug. 24.—The people of Perrysburg today held a jubilee in celebration of the town's centennial. Perrysburg is older than Toledo, of which city it is now virtually a suburb. In the early days it was the head of navigation on the Maumee River and was an important Indian trading point. The streets of the town today were decorated, business was suspended and the day was given over to the parades, public amusements, speech-making and music. One of the leading features was an historical parade in which marchers uniformed as Indians and as British and American soldiers participated.

FORTY TELL DUNNE THEY WILL ATTEND SPECIAL SESSION

Speculation in Governor's Offices is That Session Will Be Called Early Next Week.

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 24.—Forty replies all favorable, had been received tonight by Governor E. F. Dunne from members of the general assembly in response to the governor's telegram earlier in the day asking if senators and representatives would be present at a special session and vote for a law enabling Illinois soldiers on the border to ballot by mail in the fall elections. The governor said he would issue a call for a special session if he could be assured that a two-thirds majority of both houses would support an amendment to the election law.

Speculation tonight at the offices of Governor Dunne when the messages were coming in was that the special session would be called perhaps for early next week.

Most of the replies to the governor's query as to whether legislators would be present to favor an election amendment were simply "yes."

VERMONT'S CONTEST FOR SENATOR INTERESTS

Three Prominent Men Seek to Succeed Carroll Page Who Has Served Since 1908.

Montpelier, Vt., Aug. 24.—Interest in the Vermont primaries, which are to be held early next month, centers almost wholly in the three-cornered contest for the Republican nomination to the United States senate to succeed Carroll S. Page, who has been in the senate since 1908, and is a candidate for renomination. His opponents on the Republican side are Charles W. Gates, the present governor of the state, and Allen M. Fletcher, who preceded Mr. Gates in the gubernatorial chair. Because of the prominence of all three of the candidates the contest is one of the liveliest the Green Mountain State has seen in years.

The contest arouses interest also because this year, for the first time, the senatorial nomination will be made in a state-wide primary. Even those who have had years of experience in Vermont politics find it impossible to tell what the voters will do with their new authority, whether they will be guided by the men who have hitherto controlled Republican nominations or will show that they are disposed to make up their own minds.

The three candidates for the senatorial nomination have already been signally honored by the Republicans of Vermont. Senator Page was governor of the state from 1891 to 1893, and in 1908 was elected to the United States senate to succeed John W. Stewart, who had been appointed in the previous year to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Redfield Proctor. Allen M. Fletcher, who is generally regarded as Senator Page's strongest opponent, served in both branches of the state legislature, and in 1912 was elected governor. Charles W. Gates was elected to the governorship two years ago to succeed Mr. Fletcher. Before that time he had been for twelve years state highway commissioner, and still earlier he had filled terms in both branches of the legislature.

There was some question earlier in the year whether Senator Page would be a candidate for renomination. He is nearing his seventy-fifth year, and a good many Republicans, especially some of those who had ambitions to succeed him, were inclined to believe that he might retire from public office and give his time and attention to his extensive business enterprises. But Mr. Page, after consultation with some of his friends decided to run again.

Vermont is considered the banner Republican state of the Union. The best demonstration of its rock-ribbed Republicanism was furnished in the national election four years ago, when almost every other state which hitherto had been regarded as safely Republican chose either Democratic or Progressive electors. Vermont and Utah were the only states of the Union which went for Taft. It is not unreasonable, therefore, to assume that the candidate who receives at the coming primary the Republican nomination for the United States senatorship will be elected in November.

DISCORD AMONG THEOSOPHISTS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 24.—Rumors of discord among some of the leaders and members of the American Section of the Theosophical Society were in circulation here today at the opening of the annual session of the organization. It is said that several of those who have been more or less prominent in the councils of the society have declined to participate in the convention for the reason, they allege, that those in control are no longer in accord with the true spirit of the faith. The large majority of the delegates, however, are inclined to make light of these charges and they declare there is not the slightest possibility of any serious split in the organization.

The convention is attended by several hundred delegates, representing branches of the society throughout the United States and in some of them solar possessions. The convention sessions will continue five days. Much business relating to the affairs of the society will receive attention. Public sessions also will be held at which addresses and lectures will be delivered by some of the eminent leaders. Among these will be A. P. Warrington of Los Angeles, president of the American section; Augustus F. Knudson, also of Los Angeles, and Ray Wardall of Seattle.

Event Thursday in Brockhouse Grove Near Chapin, Featured by Pleading Program—Addresses by W. N. Hairgrove and Edw. L. Merritt.

The tenth annual picnic of the Brockhouse families was held Thursday in the W. C. Brockhouse Grove, northwest of Chapin. Bright and early Thursday morning people began to wend their way to the picnic grounds as the day opened auspiciously. The roads were good and the day all that could be wished for.

Burgoo soup, ice cream and various refreshments were served throughout the day. The Arenzville band furnished splendid music for the occasion.

The following program was carried out:

NEW LUBRICANT RESISTS HEAT PREVENTS RAPID SEDIMENTATION

Ordinary oil breaks down under the terrific heat of an automobile engine. Within a few hours, black sediment is formed which partially clogs the remaining liquid from the friction points where lubrication is most vital. Such under-supply of oil causes friction between the metal surfaces, intense heat, loss of power and expensive repairs.

The new lubricant that resists heat prevents rapid sedimentation, insures greater lubrication, and, except where mechanical faults exist, prevents carbon.

Relative Oil Destruction
The contents of the bottles shown, illustrate the relative durability of ordinary oil and of Vedol. The new lubricant that resists heat, Vedol, deposits only a small fraction as much sediment as ordinary oils. There is a fundamental difference between ordinary oils and Vedol. Ordinary oils are unstable and therefore unserviceable because of non-heat-resisting chemical structure. Special processes of manufacture developed by this company and the use of Pennsylvania paraffine-base crude oil give Vedol, the new lubricant, its unusual chemical structure, and its remarkable heat-resisting ability.

Make this test
Clean out the crank case. Fill with kerosene. Run the motor about thirty seconds under its own power; then draw out all kerosene and refill with Vedol. Now make a test run over a familiar road—up steep hills and along straight, level stretches. Keep a record of oil and gasoline mileage.

You will find that your motor has altogether new pickup and hill climbing ability. Vedol enables you to get the maximum mechanical efficiency from your car and to reduce your expenses. Get a five-gallon can of Vedol, and make this convincing road test.

MORRISON CASE INVOLVES MILLIONS

JAMES R. WARD ATTRACTS NO-TICE IN CHICAGO COURT PROCEEDINGS

Spent College Days in Jacksonville and is Well Known Here—Recluse Transfers $2,000,000 Worth of Property to Heirs.

The Chicago papers in recent days have made extended notices of the Morrison case in which James R. Ward, is a conspicuous figure. Mr. Ward, who is quite well known here, graduated from Illinois College in 1873. Subsequently he practiced law in Greene county and still later became a resident of Chicago. In the present case Mr. Ward represents Edw. W. Morrison, an aged recluse who has property variously estimated to be worth six to eight million dollars.

It has been shown that Morrison transferred some months ago property to Mr. Ward valued at at least $500,000 and since the present proceedings began he has transferred to him still other valuable holdings. Judge Landis has issued a restraining order directing that the rents from the property shall not be paid to Mr. Ward until it has been shown why the transfers were made.

Mr. Morrison recently attracted attention to his affairs by the announcement that he had adopted as his own daughters the Misses Bernstein. The case took a much more sensational turn Wednesday when Mr. Bernstein testified in court that Morrison is in reality the father of the girls and that the recluse is not adopting daughters but is providing for his own. The first story of the big transfer of property to Mr. Mr. Ward appeared in the Tribune. Other details in the case were given in a Chicago Herald article. This was the Tribune's story:

A seedy dressed, long bearded, clear eyed, firm stepping old man took the witness stand in Judge Landis' court yesterday and told why he had made a present of $500,000 to a lawyer.

"I gave it to him because I gave it to him," the old man declared. Further questioning by the judge and lawyers threw no more light on the strange case, which involves an estate reputed to be worth $8,000,000.

Then Judge Landis appointed the Central Trust Company as receiver for the estate. The old man is Edward W. Morrison, son of James M. Morrison, who died nearly fifty years ago, leaving an estate valued at $2,000,000. Since then the property, which includes much loop real estate holdings, is said to have quadrupled in value.

Seeks to Collect $800,000.
The old man has been brought into court on a summons in the suit of Charles Riemann, who recently obtained a judgment of $90,000 against the estate. The case has been in the state courts for seven years, and during that time many peculiar transactions have taken place, it is said.

One of these concerned the transfer of property valued at $2,000,000 to James R. Ward, a lawyer, who acted as counsel for Morrison. Property valued at $500,000 was given to the lawyer unconditionally. The transfer was made shortly after judgment had been procured against Morrison by Riemann.

Riemann, thru his counsel, Francis J. Houlihan, sought to show that the property had been transferred to the lawyer for the purpose of evading the settlement of the judgment.

Appeals to U. S. Court
Morrison contested the action by contending that Riemann's claims involved "unusual proceedings" and eventually the plaintiff went into the federal court and asked that a receiver for Morrison's estate be appointed.

When Judge Landis called the case yesterday, Attorney Ward stepped forward and asked that the case against Morrison be dismissed. Judge Landis looked long and intently at the lawyer, who appeared uncomfortable in his saggy clothing and "billed" shirt. Even before the judge spoke, beads of perspiration stood out on Lawyer Ward's face and he shifted an anxious gaze from the court to the bailiff and back again.

Lawyer Ward is a man past middle age and of ponderous bulk. Certain better effects in his clothing would have been noted had he taken the trouble to tighten his suspenders, and the spectators would have been less apprehensive as he strode backward and forward.

After making his motion he smiled at the judge. Judge Landis stared back at him. Then he said:

"Where's Morrison?"

"He's not here, your honor, but if it is necessary I can get him soon," Ward replied.

"Then get him here at 2 o'clock," ordered the judge, and court was adjourned until that time.

"When court convened Morrison was ready to take the stand. He was not nervous, but not once did he take his eyes off his lawyer. Much questioning revealed nothing.

Lawyer on the Rack
Then Lawyer Ward was questioned by Judge Landis.

"Why did this old man turn over his property to you?" he demanded.

"Because this suit was against him and I agreed to take care of it for him," was the answer.

"The suit did not involve more

HUGHES ELECTION PREDICTED BY STRONG MAJORITY

Republican Committee Quotes Figures as Basis for Statement that Candidate Will Not Be a "Minority President."

Washington, Aug. 23.—The Republican Publicity Association, thru its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, dr., today gave out the following statement at its Washington Headquarters:

If the country votes at the presidential election this year as it voted at the Congressional election of 1914, Hughes will carry California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

"These states have 286 votes in the electoral college, a majority of which is only 266.

"In each of these states, two years ago, the Republican Congressional ticket received a clear plurality of votes. In these states combined the Republican candidates for congress received 4,075,157 votes, while the Democratic candidates for congress received only 3,132,568 votes—the total Republican plurality being 942,589.

"In each of these states, in 1914, there was an organized Progressive campaign—except in Nevada, North Dakota, Utah and Wisconsin altho in Utah there was a Fusion ticket running in opposition to the Republicans. The total Progressive vote in these states was 746,341, and the combined Republican-Progressive plurality over the Democrats was 1,688,930.

"Two years ago there were five states—Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, and Ohio, which are fairly to be classed as normally Republican but where the Democratic Congressional ticket received a plurality of votes ranging from a beggerly 365 in Maine to an impressive 42,752 in Indiana. But the Progressive vote in each of these five states was far in excess of the difference between the Republican and Democratic totals, and ranged from 3,111 in Nebraska to 90,040 in Indiana. In Kansas the Progressive vote in 1914 amounted to 74,441; in Ohio it was 47,981; and in Maine it was 17,985.

"These five states will cast 63 votes in the electoral college. How will they vote this year?"

"Hopeful Democratic statisticians estimate the division of the former Progressive vote upon different proportions—in each instance, however, giving the long end of it to the Republicans and is no instance claiming that more than 30 per cent of the Bull Moose will support Wilson. Upon this extreme hypothesis, let us examine the vote of the five states where a Democratic plurality was found in the congressional elections of 1914.

"The Republican vote of Indiana in 1914 was 233,140, the Progressives casting 90,040 and the Democrats 275,892. Dividing the Bull Moose strength on the basis of seventy and thirty per cent, respectively, to the Republicans and the Democrats, the vote of Indiana this year should be: Republican, 296,162; Democratic, 302,904. This margin is too small for the comfort on either side; and Indiana must remain as fighting territory until the votes are counted. The Progressives—aided, it is said, by Democratic funds—are maintaining an organization in that state; but competent observers believe that from 85 to 90 per cent of the Moose will vote for Hughes and that the number who will support Wilson are negligible. Upon this basis, Indiana should go for Hughes and Fairbanks by nearly 30,000.

"The seventy-thirty division applied to Kansas would give that state to the Republicans by the following figures: Republican, 249,215; Democratic, 218,162.

"In Maine the result would be: Republican, 72,888; Democratic, 66,071.

"In Nebraska the figures would show: Republican, 113,376; Democratic, 113,820. This is another hairline of demarcation—but there is no Bull Moose ticket in Nebraska this year; and while the contest will be a hard one, the indications are that Hughes will carry the state.

"The same division of the Progressive vote in Ohio would produce figures for 1916 in this wise: Republican, 511,038; Democratic, 498,653.

"It is, therefore, a fair assumption that, in addition to retaining the states which disclosed a clear Republican plurality in 1914—and which assure a majority of the electoral college—the Republican ticket will this year gain Kansas, Maine and Ohio without question and secure for Hughes and Fairbanks a total of 326 out of the 531 votes in the electoral college—with more than a fighting chance to add the 23 votes of Indiana and Nebraska to that number, making 349, or a majority of 167.

"Hughes will not be a minority President.

"The figures upon which the foregoing is based are taken from the 'World Almanac,' and in detail they are as follows:

INTERESTING SPORT NOTES

Cincinnati, O.—Two broad shouldered, tanued men stood talking for a brief time under the grand stand before the game last Monday at Red-land Field. As the fans hurried past them to their seats, the years were rolled back and the two men were seen again on the pitching mound in many of the greatest games ever recorded in the history of the sport.
The men were Christy Mathewson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds and Miner Brown, who after a lapse of years, again is on the pitching staff of the Chicago Cubs. When these great exponents of the pitching end of the game were in full possession of their ability as slabmen the entire baseball world looked on, for their games were sure to be marked with skill, grace, strategy and all the kinks and workings of inside baseball. Matty, as a giant and Brown, as one of the older breed of Cubs, rivals, pillars of the game for many years, stood talking. Subject? Baseball? No, golf!

Atlanta, Ga.—Scott Perry, the pitcher sold to the Chicago Nationals by the Atlanta Southern Association club, is described as a "big, powerful right hander". Latest figures available show he has won 16 games and lost 15, his percentage of victories being slightly better than that of his team. Sam Mayer, the outfielder who goes to the Cubs in the same deal is called a brilliant fielder, and has a batting average of .282. Steve Yernes, the former Whale, transferred to Atlanta by the Cubs, is considered by some experts the best second baseman in the Southern and is hitting at a .332 rate. Ad Brennan, another Whale-Cub now with the Crackers apparently has recovered the use of his left wing for he has won 13 games and lost five for Atlanta.

Atlanta—in Frank Trasher, Connie Mack, of the Athletics, has purchased an outfielder destined like his fellow southerners, Cobb, Speaker, and Jackson, to be one of the stars of the national pastime, according to critics here. Trasher is a wonderful fielder and is among the leaders of the Southern Association in batting with an average of .322.

Iowa City—Iowa's hope for a place among the top-notchers of Conference football this season rests in a great measure on the class of the material Coach Howard Jones will find in his squad of recruits.
There will be a few of last year's men back and advance information banded the former Yale star is that there will be some promising candidates among the sophomores.

Cleveland—Charles Valentine of Columbus, is out for the leading money winning honors of the Grand Circuit this year. With Donna Clay his principal winner, Valentine has taken down $1,682 at Cleveland, $3,100 at Detroit, $2,125 at Kalamazoo and $2,025 at Pittsburgh.

Cleveland—Western Reserve's hope for the state football championship suffered a setback in the announcement that Sol Weinberg, its quarterback and point gainer, would not be back this fall. Weinberg has concluded to hold his business position until the opening of the February term.

Cleveland—A Cleveland baseball man has pointed out the disparity of Jones is leading to fame in St. mf ages in the squad which Fielder
Jones is leading to fame in St. Louis.
Jones himself is 42 years of age and like the other best known veterans of his team—Plank and Wallace, who are about the same age—is a native of Pennsylvania. Those three are the only players on the team born east of the Alleghenies.
George Eisler, perhaps Jones' greatest individual asset among the players, is the youngest, having been born in Nimolia, Ohio, Feb. 19, 1894.
Sisler and Lavan learned their baseball at the University of Michigan, while Ernest Koob gained his first notice by pitching a great game against Sisler's Wolverines for Kalamazoo Normal, a few years ago.

Chicago—Joe Rivers, the Mexican boxer, rated among the best light weights a few years ago, is training here for his bout with Johnny Griffiths, at Canton, Ohio, Labor Day.
He will wind up his work at Cleveland.

We put it up to Hundreds of Dentists
Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed SENRECO to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially as to its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhea, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested SENRECO from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis—
And They Voted Yes
With practically one accord—said:
"SENRECO appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen." "I cannot say too much for SENRECO. It's one of the best I have used." "I can recommend SENRECO as the best." "Makes the teeth glister and is free from injurious ingredients, including purgatives and grit." "I am indeed glad to get a tooth paste that does the work." "Congratulate you on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc."
(These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)
With such endorsement from the men who know why not go to your dealer today and get a tube of SENRECO—25c. Keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and protect yourself against Pyorrhea and decay.
A copy of the folder, "The Most General Disease in the World" together with a liberal trial size tube of SENRECO will be mailed you for 4c in stamps.

WHEAT IGNORES BULLISH NEWS; REACTION SENDS PRICES DOWN
Quotations Held Firm for An Hour and Then Begin To Work Lower.—Close Is 1/2 to 1 1/2 Cents Down.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Ignoring bullish news a natural reaction sent prices down 1/2 to 1 1/2 today. Corn closed 1/4 lower to 1/2¢ higher; oats a shade to 1/2 up. Pork closed 3/4 lower to 10¢ higher.

Prices held firm for an hour and then began to work lower. Thereafter the story was simple—long wheat sold for profit until the end on a large scale.

The feature in the corn pit was the buying by local professionals who took December options early and sold later.

Oats were relatively firm. At the top there was heavy selling but prices held well. An active foreign demand was reported.

The feature of the provisions trade was the demand for lard which was wanted for the foreign account. September pork sold off 3/4. Lard advanced 7/8 @ 10¢ and ribs 2 1/2¢ lower to 2 1/2¢ higher.

DESPAIRING WOMAN Now Happy Mother

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need
The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for sometime, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Patoka, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

than $100,000, yet you were given $500,000," said the judge. "Why the extra $400,000?"

"Why, that was the consideration, among other things," replied Lawyer Ward. "He gave it to me and he knew what he was doing. There was nothing wrong."

"Of course not," stated the judge, as he gazed out of the window, "it was perfectly all right for him to give you a couple of million if he wanted to, but this court wants to know just why he wanted to. Was this property conveyed to you in trust?"

"No sir; but I have the affidavit of Mr. Morrison here—"

"I don't want the affidavits," said the judge. "You drew them up yourself, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir, I—" stammered Ward. "All right, I don't want to see them," said the judge. "I will appoint a receiver for this estate and within one week bring in your bill of exceptions or whatever else you want, and I will go deeper into this thing and find out what it's all about."

The following is the second chapter in the story as told by the Chicago Herald:

The mystery of why Edward W. Morrison adopted Alice and Margaret Bernstein was solved yesterday in Federal Judge Landis' court.

Joseph Burnstein, supposed father of the two girls, testified Mr. Morrison is their real father.

His evidence was given in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings instituted against the aged multimillionaire by Attorney Francis J. Houlihan in behalf of Charles Riemann.

While this revelation was holding the undivided attention of spectators in the federal court there was recorded in the office of County Recorder Joseph E. Connery two deeds, by which Mr. Morrison conveyed to James R. Ward all of his interest in two valuable downtown leaseholds. Mr. Ward has been the beneficiary many times before of Mr. Morrison's good will, having received property from him variously estimated to be worth from $2,000,000 to $6,000,000.

Ward Wins Control

By the action of yesterday a bold stroke seems to have been accomplished. If Judge Landis holds that the adoption of the Burnstein girls is illegal, and if Mr. Ward loses his fight for Mr. Morrison's property in the bankruptcy court, he will still have an undivided interest in the downtown property.

The will of Mr. Morrison's father provided that if he, Edward W. Morrison, and the then infant brother died without heirs all of the property should go to the city for the purpose of the erection and the maintenance of a high school for Chicago.

The conveyances filed in the recorder's office yesterday were dated four months ago. The properties involved are 3 to 7 North Clark street and 72 to 76 West Madison street, under lease to Ben Roth for a ten year term beginning April 30, 1915, at a total rental of $350,000 and 15 and 17 South Clark street, under lease to the Morrison Hotel Company for a ten-year term beginning April 30, 1911, at a total rental of $147,000.

Assigned in Longhand

On the back of each leasehold appears in longhand the statements: "For value received I hereby assign all my interest in the foregoing and within lease to James R. Ward and authorize him to collect said rents and sums payable." The signature in the same handwriting as the assignment itself is E. W. Morrison. Both are dated April 21, 1916.

Judge Landis issued an order restraining Mr. Ward from collecting the rentals on this and other property until the matter was decided by a higher court. He ordered that in the meantime Mr. Roth and Harry Moir of the Morrison Hotel Company pay their rents for the property to the receiver. Mr. Ward asked leave to have until Tuesday to file an answer to the ruling. It was granted.

Tells of Wife's Confession

A sensation was caused in court by the statements of Mr. Burnstein, when he testified that his late wife upon her deathbed had confessed to him Mr. Morrison was the father of the girls he had supposed were his daughters.

"A few moments before my wife died she made a confession," Burnstein said. "I had rather not tell what it was."

When told by the court that he must do so he continued:

"She told me Mr. Morrison was the father of the girls. On the day of my wife's funeral I rode in the same carriage with Mr. Morrison. I spoke to him about what my wife had told me. He said, 'I'll fix everything up all right.'"

Morrison In Denial

Mr. Morrison denied that he was the father of the children, altho he did not explain why he had adopted them.

"Mrs. Burnstein came to me some months ago," he said. "I had known her for twenty years. She said she was ill and would have to go to a hospital. She pleaded with me to take care of her daughters. I demurred but finally consented."

Mr. Burnstein testified that he had signed a paper with an agreement that if Mr. Morrison would adopt the children, he would receive no money from him. He said he had had a conversation in the latter's office.

Ward Also Denies It

Mr. Ward denied such a conversation had taken place, and said the children had been adopted in the regular manner. After Mr. Ward had testified Burnstein again took the witness stand.

"I said to Mr. Wood, 'This adoption is not going to adopt anybody; he's going to take his own children. That was my wife's dying statement,'" he testified. "Mr. Ward told me he knew Morrison and my wife had been together often."

Court Bars Frank

Mr. Ward did not appear as Mr. Morrison's attorney yesterday. Instead Herman Frank acted for both Ward and Morrison. Judge Landis questioned the aged millionaire closely as to why he had changed. Morrison replied he had been advised to do so by Ward. He said Ward had suggested four attorneys, but that he could not remember their names.

The court refused to allow Mr. Frank to act in the case.

"Mr. Frank was chosen as counsel for the bankruptcy by Mr. Ward," he said. "The evidence shows that the relations between Mr. Ward and the bankrupt are such that Ward's interests are fundamentally against the bankrupt. I cannot allow Mr. Frank to serve as counsel."

The Big Wheat Yield.

Now that threshing is over we will soon know just about how yields of wheat and oats have been and what varieties and conditions have given the best results. The largest yield of wheat that has so far been reported to the Farm Bureau for a field of any size is 38½ bushels per acre on the 17½ acres which Peter Gerber & Sons of Tremont had just south of their house. This was Red Wave wheat sown the very last of September on an old pasture which had been plowed in August. The wheat grew so rank that some spots were mowed in the spring when the wheat was about a foot high. This was a little higher average than that which H. H. Meyer of Parkland secured on his whole crop, but his average of 45 bushels per acre on 75 acres certainly showed splendid management as well as splendid ground for wheat production. His wheat was also Red Wave wheat and was sown the last week in September.

Oats Record.

This was a good year for early oats as they filled out largely ahead of the dry weather. The best yield of oats in the county so far as reports have been sent in is that of Sommer Bros., of Pekin, with their Iowa 103, especially bred strain of Kherson. This is considered the best yielding variety of oats in Iowa and it does splendidly here. Sommer Bros. had 25 acres of these just north of the road that averaged 76½ bushels per acre. Wilbert Sommer had 17 acres that averaged 70 bushels and 18 acres that averaged 81 bushels, so that their whole crop of 60 acres averaged just 76 bushels. They also had two fields of Great American, one of 30 acres which averaged 56½ bushels and one of ten acres which averaged 46 2-3 bushels, so that their entire 40 acres of Great American oats averaged 54 bushels per acre. They consider that the ground which the two varieties of oats were grown in of equal fertility, so it shows an advantage this year for early oats. That yield of 76 bushels per acre would look good any year and the early oats were ready to cut on July 12, while the Great American were not ready until July 22nd.

The next best yield reported is that of 2805 bushels of Texas Red oats which A. L. Robinson & Sons grew on 40 acres, or an average of 70 bushels per acre. They have always liked these Texas Red oats and keep on growing them, although they raise some Great American oats also. Their Texas Red seem to be perfectly pure and have none of the little black oats that are seen in most lots of Texas Red oats.

Limestone and Phosphate Rock Coming.

Last week we sent in orders for six cars of limestone and two cars of phosphate rock. C. L. Frevert of Minier ordered two cars of limestone and one car of phosphate. He has already gone into these sufficiently to know what results he can expect. One Farm Bureau member did not understand about the Farm Bureau phosphate rock contract and ordered a car independently of another company and found that it cost him $12 more for a 30 ton car, figured on the basis of the comparative quality and price.

WORK IN PRISONS

to take almost any prisoner and with the right means make a man of him. Time was when prisoners wore zebra stripes, walked in lock step, kept eyes to the ground and were not permitted to speak. Little wonder they lost self respect and bore the marks of prison life and were kept down after being liberated.

"In the Kansas penitentiary I saw 780 men come in from work at 5 o'clock p. m., sit down to a good meal largely provided with vegetables they had raised and then go out to a recreation ground and enjoy two hours at baseball and other amusements, and the forfeit of this was bad conduct which was rare and they had no officers watching them either. In that prison they have trade schools and agricultural schools and the state university sent there the mail course and officials from the university came down, presided at graduation exercises and awarded diplomas and the graduates went out to useful lives.

In a Southern Prison.

"I visited the state prison of Alabama and my heart was wrung by what I saw there. The cruel instrument of punishment, the convict system which kills so many men and women chained together working in mines, and many other abuses. I visited another southern prison where hung the cruel strap but the warden said he didn't use it and wouldn't. The state gives them no library and all they have is what is donated. Have any here complete years of magazines or desirable books; please send them down.

"There was in a southern prison a man so utterly bad that the governor refused to pardon or parole him unless I would be personally responsible for him. The doctors said he could live but a little while. I told them to send him along and he came, a dreadful physical wreck of one who had once been far opposite. He said he had been put in the solitary seventeen days at a time, the interior black; the ventilation very meagre, only a bare board for a bed and bitterly cold in the winter. Kind and suitable treatment made him a healthy, useful man. The prison has greatly modified that kind of treatment. The vital thing is to get in touch with the prisoner while he is yet in confinement so that when he comes out he will be ready for a correct life.

"We have organized a prison league which began with six members and now has 87,000. Each year 500 men from Illinois prisons are paroled to us. All need a chance and of the 20,000 whom I have had committed to me fully 75 per cent have made good and while some have not done so well as others not more than 5 per cent have gone back to evil ways.

Living True Religion.

"If religion is worth anything it must get down to the lowest and help up.

"Any other kind is worthless. In one year in Chicago our boys earned $300,000 and none of it went across the bar of a saloon. I am sponsor for the paroled and know what they make and what they do with it. There was once a skilled professional burglar whom every one had given up as beyond saving. That man had a vision of the trust Christ and gave him his heart. Those who knew him sneered at the idea but he was truly converted. He secured good employment, married and had two lovely children. One day he came to me very much downcast and said while the family had been away for a little outing some one had robbed his home but later he discovered that it was the son of a woman in the building.

"He talked to that young man and forgave him.

"The holy Bible is the great and only true guide. Read it as did your grandfather. Don't stop to ask if this part is inspired or that; don't dissect but take it as it is; read it, study it with loving heart and inquiring mind; not to find mistakes but what will make you better.

"One Christmas I visited in a prison 1900 cells trying to take a little cheer to the men that blessed day. At the close the warden said he had to confess that when I began work there he ridiculed it but he was wholly wrong; he and some of the officers could well profit by our teaching. They had a man who was crotchety, filthy and blasphemous, quarrelsome and fighting when he could get a chance and so lazy he would hardly do anything, but now he was wholly transformed; the day of miracles is not past.

"That man was converted eighteen years ago and now has a good home. He works hard every day but no one knows how many of his former comrades and others of the kind he has rescued.

"Let us remember him who said, 'I was in prison and ye came unto me' and like him let us strive to raise the fallen and give them all a chance."

The Mrs. Booth talked two and a half hours there was general regret when she stopped. Thongs gathered around to take her hand and bid her goodspeed.

In the Evening.

The great canvas auditorium was thronged in the evening and heard a splendid concert by the Ruby family. The talented musicians have won golden opinions in this region and are truly capable entertainers in every way.

Aside from this splendid organization, Earl Pond, a local singer, was heard in three very pleasing songs. Mr. Pond possesses a rich baritone voice and he is rapidly gaining great favor as a musician of high rank, and a valuable addition to Jacksonville's artists.

Notes.
One class of people on the ground seems to have been wholly overlooked and it is fair to give them a line and that is the babies of whom there are several. It is doubtful if that many little ones could be gathered together anywhere who would make less noise and be less trouble. The little folks have been complimented many times for their good conduct.

The conduct at the large pavilion north of the lake is commendable. Dances have been conducted there every night and so far only good reports of conduct there have been received.

Regarding the avalanche of kicks because Rev. W. E. Spooner was not recognized in the automobile awards the chautauqua management deem it but fair to them to announce that they are blameless in the matter. The matter of awards was wholly in the hands of the judges.

A lot of advertising fans with programs on them have been found very convenient to visitors. Some complaint has been made that a part of the streets leading to the chautauqua grounds have had too much of a good thing in the way of oil but that beats dust.

The large throngs of foot travelers, autoists and vehicle drivers have been handled thus far admirably, without accident or trouble some careless automobile or carriage drivers have damaged some small trees.

The slow manner in which tickets for next year have been taken is singular to say the least. The management can be relied on for a splendid 1917 program. The question is up to the people.

Some auto drivers will persist in going too fast but in general all are considerate regarding speed.

The garbage on the grounds is as well cared for as possible tho a few more cans for that purpose would be a good thing.

The eating pavilion conducted by the Central Christian church ladies continues to be well patronized and greatly praised by its customers.

Why can't a few boxes of magazines and readable books be sent down to that Alabama state prison as Mrs. Booth requested? If some one would make a start it might be accomplished.

W. E. McCurley, son Frank and wife and grandson all from Woodson precinct were on the grounds yesterday.

"Sleepy Hollow" is a new designation for one of the tents.

A few tents are ornamented with flags and more would look well.

TWO C. B. & Q. EMPLOYEES HURT IN COLLISION NEAR JOY PRAIRIE

Automobile Oil Truck From Arenzville Collides With Motor Car Near Joy Prairie Station—Russel Shute and C. E. Goehring of Beardstown Injured.

An automobile oil truck owned by the Berger Oil Co. of Arenzville and driven by J. H. Anderson, collided with a C. B. & Q. motor car Thursday afternoon near Joy Prairie station at 1:30 o'clock. Russel Shute of Beardstown, one of the occupants of the car is at Passavant hospital suffering from an injured shoulder and a badly bruised head. C. E. Goehring, also of Beardstown, his traveling companion, is more fortunate, suffering only a sprained wrist and a cut on the forehead. The two injured men are inmates employed by the C. B. & Q. railroad. The car was headed east. The men did not see the automobile approaching from the south. Anderson states that he did not discover the car until he was squarely on the track. The collision came with such force that the motor car, the smaller of the two was thrown a distance of fifty feet and the two men fell at the side of the track near by.

Eliza Harmon who was driving by at the time of the accident immediately stopped his car and ran to the assistance of the two men. He saw that Shute was the worst hurt of the two and picked him up. George R. Fox then arrived on the scene and Shute was placed in his car and taken to Joy Prairie station. As the C. B. & Q. passenger, No. 48, was about due they were placed on the train and brought to Passavant hospital. H. A. Purry, manager of the Joy Prairie Farmers' elevator, called Jacksonville and when the train arrived medical attention was immediately given.

Mr. Goehring was able to return to his home in Beardstown last night. It was at first thought that Mr. Shute's injuries were of a serious nature, but after further examination it was found that this was not the case. He was reported restless last night, but otherwise in good condition. Relatives came from Beardstown immediately upon hearing of the accident. Mr. Anderson, driver of the truck, was not injured.

Factory to Manufacture Piano Organs May be Located Here—Deal Near Consumption.

For several days Edward Bersche has been in Jacksonville talking to various citizens and representatives of the chamber of commerce with reference to the establishment of a piano-organ factory in this city. Mr. Bersche said last night that he had assurance from the chamber of commerce committee that the company's requirement for a building could be met and that the enterprise will be started here.

The piano-organ is a new type of musical instrument invented by Earl Schwarz of Highland, Ill. It is a combination pipe organ and player piano, and six different methods of operating it are possible. It is designed especially for use in moving picture houses and also for use in private homes of the wealthy.

The company, which is not yet fully organized, will have a capital stock of $60,000 and Mr. Bersche said that practically all of the stock had been taken by people in Highland and in Waterloo, his own home. WHO WILL HELP?

Mrs. Booth made a pathetic plea for cooks and magazines for "her boys" in the Alabama State prison. If some central location for their collection could be secured it ought to be easy to gather a few boxes to sent down by freight which wouldn't be very costly.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Robinson were in the city yesterday from Murrayville.

JURY AT JOAQUIN INQUIS.

ATTACHES BLAME TO NO ONE

No Cause Found For Accident to Car—Mrs. Hart Improving.

After hearing the evidence of witnesses of the accident in which J. Carl Joaquin lost his life the jury returned a verdict in which no blame was attached to anyone.

The jury was composed of Albert A. Renner, foreman, Charles R. Reinhardt, Charles J. Katschak, Keith Montgomery, Earl Williams and J. Earl Vasconcellos, clerk. The full text of the verdict follows:

"We, the undersigned, jurors sworn to inquire into the death of J. Carl Joaquin on oath do find that he came to his death by receiving a fracture of the skull while riding in a Ford car driven by Mrs. Harry Hart. The car overturned from some cause unknown to us. We further find that his death was purely accidental and attach no blame to anyone."

The jury met at the undertaking parlors of Williamson and Cody at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning. The testimony of Dr. P. A. Norris, Mrs. G. B. Andre and C. N. Priest was taken.

Dr. Norris testified to being called to the scene of the accident. When he arrived there he found that the injured parties had been taken to the hospital. He went to Passavant hospital and was told by Drs. Reid and Cole that Joaquin was dead. The cause of death, Dr. Norris said, was a fracture at the base of the skull causing hemorrhage from ears and mouth.

Mrs. G. B. Andre testified that she was returning from the chautauqua grounds and had just turned into Hardin avenue from the Vandallia road. She saw the car turn over and told the chauffeur to drive faster and soon reached the scene of the accident. She stopped the car and the chauffeur assisted in taking the body of Joaquin from under the overturned car. She saw a woman running down the road and overtook her. It proved to be Mrs. Hart and she was taken into the car and taken to Our Savior's hospital.

Car Was Going Rapidly

C. N. Priest said he was returning from Nichols Park and saw the car turn over. Witness said he thought the car was being driven fast, probably forty miles an hour. Car had passed two cars and was in the clear of other cars. Mr. Joaquin was apparently dead and was lying about sixteen feet from the car.

After hearing the testimony of these witnesses a statement was read to the jury which had been given Mrs. Hart to Albert A. Renner, the foreman. The statement was in accord with that made in Thursday morning's Journal. The jury then returned a verdict as given above.

Mrs. Hart Improving

Mrs. H. R. Hart, who was driving the car in which Joaquin was killed, was said to be improving in a gratifying manner at Our Savior's hospital yesterday. She is recovering from the shock and her wounds are healing rapidly.

Relatives and friends of Mrs. Hart who visited the scene of the accident yesterday and who examined the wrecked car, feel very positive that the cause of the accident was a broken wheel. They found that the wheel showed several spokes had been broken for some time and taking this together with Mrs. Hart's statement they feel certain that the spokes suddenly parted from the rim and the car was thrown forward. Mrs. Hart says that the first indication she had of anything wrong was when the car lurched and the top seemed to come down forward over their heads. The radiator of the car was mashed in front and not on the side, and this is further indication that a broken wheel caused the car to turn over not sideways but end over end. A test of speed was also made on the hills with a Ford and with the throttle open to the limit, and summit was reached at a twenty mile rate.
